Experience

UI UX Designer & Frontend Developer
Frisseblikken.com

Utrecht, Netherland - Fulltime
Aug 2016 - Sept 2019

I worked on web design projects including the responsiveness for the mobile version. Normally we do the kickoff meeting first and I get a rough wireframe from the Project Manager, then I create the mockup. Got feedback and iterate. When the mockup is final I convert it into HTML and SCSS. Working as a designer and frontend developer makes me know which design is effective and which one is not for the development process.

Co-founder & Designer
Duosweb.com

Yogyakarta, Indonesia
Mar 2018 - Now

Duosweb is a small web development agency that I created with my programmer friend in 2018. I have some roles in this team, as Project Manager who talks to client and gathering requirement, as UI/UX designer of course, and sometimes I also do the frontend part. This year we starting to expand the service in mobile app development. In this team, I learn how to manage projects, create a project timeline, and also handling clients directly.

In my channel, I talk about UI/UX and design tutorials. With me creating videos every week it means I always learn new things and keep up-to-date in the design world. It also shows that I am capable to communicate my ideas clearly to others. With this channel, I want to educate this generation in my country about designs, because we don't get that much in our formal education, especially the ones who can't afford colleges. That's why I use the Indonesian language in my videos. Second, it helps me grow my brand, to get more exposure to potential clients.

Freelance UI/UX Designer

Remote
2015 - Now

I start my career in UI/UX design as a freelancer, whether it's directly with clients or from freelance websites like 99designs.com. I've been freelancing since 2012 but I start focusing on UI UX since 2015. So I've been working with overseas clients my whole career, and I enjoy working remotely.

UI Designer
Boldwebdesign.com.au

Adelaide, Australia - Fulltime Remote
2020 - Now

I work on web UI design projects. The workflow is the PM creating complete brief and requirement of the project, including the wireframe, then I convert the wireframe into a final mockup. We collaborate using Figma so it's easy to manage feedback and design together. Working as a full UI Designer makes me more focused on the little details in the design, so I can improve the design even more to make it useful yet beautiful for the users.
